ganization

With a machine gun company be ing formed in Anderson, there is now an the opportunity presenting itself to young men of this section of the state that ought to be grasped inimediately, especially by the young men who have attended military schools. However, it seems that the men of this class do not realize this fact that are slow to respond to the call that has been made to them.

At a meeting held last night in the office of Col. P. K. McCully, Jr., the offsanization of this company wait discussed and much enthusiasm wa brought to hear upon those present. Among those present were Col. P. K. McCully, Capt. B. B. Gossett, Capt. R. J. Ramer and others, including about ten young men of the city.

Capt. McCully being the highest ranking officer present, presided ov-er the meeting. He discussed the organization of the company and told of the great opportunity it afforded the young men of Anderson who wished to enter military service, especially those who had attended military

He was followed by Capt. Gossett who has been despatched to organize this company. Capt. Gossett in the beginning stated that he was disappointed with the young men of the city of Anderson of the class which was needed for the machine gun company. He stated that the com-pany had to be organized preferably from men who had had some military from men who had had some military training and men of mental ability. He spoke very highly of the young men of the mili villages of Anderson who were so readily responding to the call and who were chilsting in Company B. He said they were not only a credit to themselves, but also to the city of Anderson and f' a state of South Carolina. He also said that it would not be any trouble for him to get men for the company if it were not that the requirements were greater than for entityment in it were not that the requirements were greater than for entistment in the infantry. He said that unless the young men of Anderson who were properly qualified came forward and volunteered, advertisements would have to be inserted in papers of the state in order to get the men from other sections to come up and make out the required number.

Capt. Rev. was then (ed upon to make a talk. He told of conditions in Mexico, and having lived there for four years, he was able to make some very interesting statements. He called apon the young men present to assist in stirring up enthusiasm among their friends so
